TERMS & CONDITIONS

By accessing any part of this site you will be deemed to have accepted these Terms and Conditions in full.

Moneyfacts.co.uk is operated by Moneyfacts.co.uk Limited ("Moneyfacts"), 66-70 Thorpe Road Norwich, NR1 1BJ.

Terms of Use

Moneyfacts.co.uk is directed only at residents of the United Kingdom.

Moneyfacts reserves the right to alter or amend these Terms and Conditions at any time and users are responsible for ensuring they are aware of such alterations and amendments.

Moneyfacts reserves the right to alter or withdraw in part or whole any service on the site at its absolute discretion without being liable for loss or damage however caused.

If users become aware of any defects in the site or any information shown they should give notification immediately by using the Contact Us function on the site.

Moneyfacts does its best to ensure the quality of the data and information or other content shown but absolute accuracy cannot be guaranteed and Moneyfacts makes no representations in this respect and accepts no liability for any loss or damage caused by inaccurate, out of date or incomplete data or information. The data and information or other content shown does not constitute any form of advice or recommendation and should be checked with the provider or other supplier in question before making any decision to buy or not to buy any product.

The information is directed at persons in the United Kingdom and is not to be regarded as an offer to buy or sell, or a solicitation for any product or service shown on the site. The content is designed to provide you with information to help make an informed decision and does not constitute an incitement, invitation, advice or personal recommendation. Readers who are not financial professionals should seek expert advice.

Moneyfacts accepts no liability for any indirect or consequential loss or damage or for any loss of data profit revenue or business (whether direct or indirect however caused even if foreseeable).

Copyright

All data, information, text, images and layout are the exclusive property of Moneyfacts and must not be e-mailed, networked, shared, republished, reproduced, transferred or copied (other than for reasonable personal use e.g. audit trails or backups). All copyright intellectual and other property rights shall continue to be held by Moneyfacts and no rights of any kind shall pass to any user;

Any attempt to damage the site or act in contravention of these Terms and Conditions may give rise to legal redress and Moneyfacts reserves the right to seek damages from such perpetrator.
Disclaimer of third party websites

Where Moneyfacts does not cover a particular area of finance we may have a relationship with third party providers or intermediaries. Moneyfacts has endeavoured to find reliable and reputable providers to ensure that users obtain the best possible service.

Hypertext links to third party websites exist on the site that if activated result in users leaving the site and entering a third party site. However, Moneyfacts does not control these services and makes no representation as to the accuracy, completeness, timeliness or suitability of any information or products and shall not be held responsible or liable for the content on any third party sites.. Where a user buys a product via a third party site, they will be subject to that third party’s terms and conditions.

Users should give notification immediately if they have any complaints in respect of any of these providers

The presence of any advertisement on this site is not an endorsement or recommendation by Moneyfacts of the products and services highlighted and it shall not be held responsible in anyway liable or responsible thereof.

Summary of Terms

- Browser Used to locate and display Web pages via a software application. The most popular ones are Google Chrome, Mozilla Firefox and Apple Safari.
- IP (Internet Protocol) All networks connected to the internet speak IP, the technical standard that allows data to be transmitted between two devices.
- TCP/IP (Transmission Control Protocol/Internet Protocol) is responsible for making sure messages get from one host to another and that the messages are understood.
- IP address If you are connected to the Internet you have, for example it may look something like this 198.184.98.9 Web server delivers (serves up) Web pages to your computer.

Last updated: August 2018